In summary, based on the intelligence at my disposal, I believe that we should continue to maintain the Ghorbanifar contact and consider what we may be prepared to do to meet minimum requirements that would lead to release of the rest of the hostages. Although I am not pleased by segmented releases of the American hostages, I am convinced that this may be the only way to proceed, given the delicate factional balance in Iran. I also see resolution of the hostage issue as potentially leading to contacts with moderate factions in Iran that we may be able to deal with in the longer term.

This is to be the case the current situation.

Senior and Senior have a strong reputation in the area of reconstruction and support. They are also known for their ability to coordinate and manage large-scale operations. They are currently working on a project to recover their own missing assets.

If the situation is not resolved, the situation in Tehran and matters could become more complicated. Lebanese Hezbollah matters probably are not related.
